About
How Layden, Single Handed,
Beat Stanford in the Rose Bowl

January 1, 1925—Stanford and Notre Dame meet in the Tournament of Roses for the national championship. Led by Ernie Nevers, Stanford is doped to win.

IT'S NEVERS AGAIN! NOTRE DAME CAN'T STOP HIM—HE'S ONE OF THE GREATEST FULL-BACKS OF ALL TIME—HE'S PUT THE BALL ON THE IRISH 40-YARD LINE—

Next play—Nevers takes the ball from center.
It's a pass! Looks good——But it isn't! A lithe and supple member of the most glamorous backfield in football history—the Four Horsemen—leaps high into the air and intercepts the pass.

It's Elmer Layden who turns possible defeat into certain victory for Notre Dame. Twice in the single game Layden intercepts Stanford passes and carries them over the goal—one 65 yards and one 70 yards! His 12 points surpass the Stanford total—Notre Dame wins, 27 to 10.

Here is the man, whose sheer speed cutting like a sabre through opposing lines, led Notre Dame to its first national championship. Layden is now head football coach at Notre Dame.

To Inspector -
 If you mean I didn't run into any hot coat when I went after the man I gave you didn't say on the name of the coat. That's all I can say about it from a police point of view. (I said the coat reporter got it from a police officer, mind you, I said coat.)
 The day was a bit warm and it didn't rain, so I didn't think what ever coat he had worn was a very good coat. He had been wearing the coat the part of his disguise he gave me on idea so I called it weather bureau and asked if it rained any place within a radius of 50 miles of the city and found out that about 3 hours before the robbery it was raining only around the air port --- It gives the impression though, eh, old smelt?

AND HIS ADVENTURES

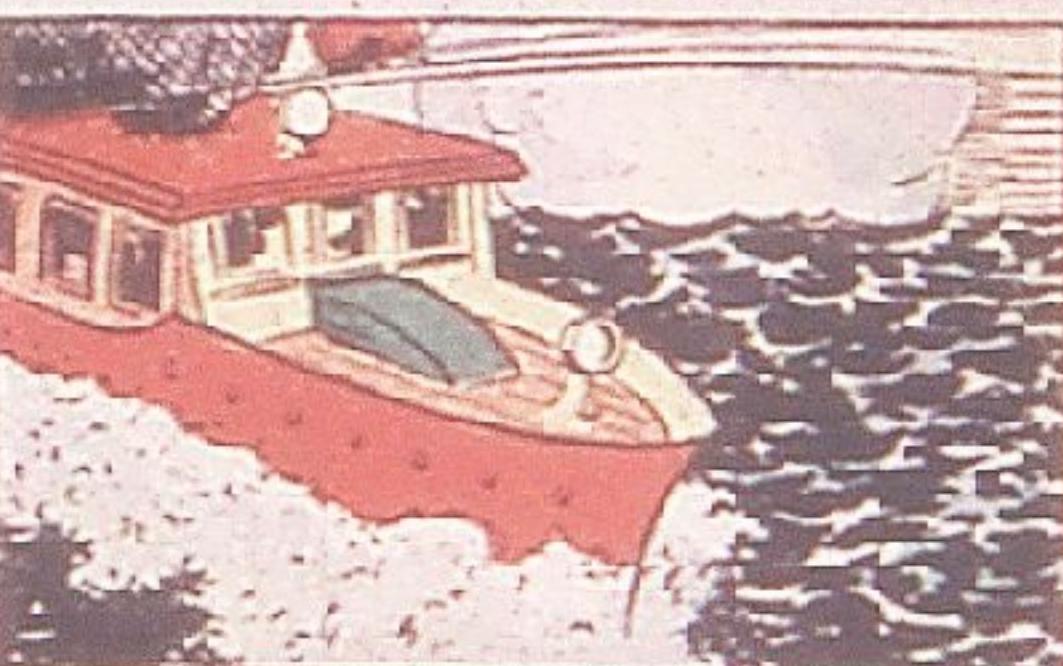

By Ed Cronin

AS JIM LIES UNCONSCIOUS ON THE DECK OF THE KIDNAP YACHT DIRECTLY IN THE PATH OF THE FIRING PLANE HE SEEKS TO FACE CERTAIN DEATH. BUT A SHORT DISTANCE AWAY A COAST GUARD PATROL VIEWS THE DRAMA.

THE PLANE IS ATTACKING AGAIN---

AND JUST AS THE PLANE OPENS FIRE

JIM WATCHES WITH AMAZEMENT AS THE STRICKEN PLANE SUDDENLY NOSE DIVES INTO THE SEA---

THE KIDNAP YACHT REFUSES TO STOP AT THE PATROL BOAT'S COMMAND BUT HEAVES TO WHEN A SHOT TAKES OFF HER FUNNEL.

PLEASE JIM - DON'T TELL THEM YOU WERE KIDNAPPED!

FOR HER YACHT!

U-U-U-U

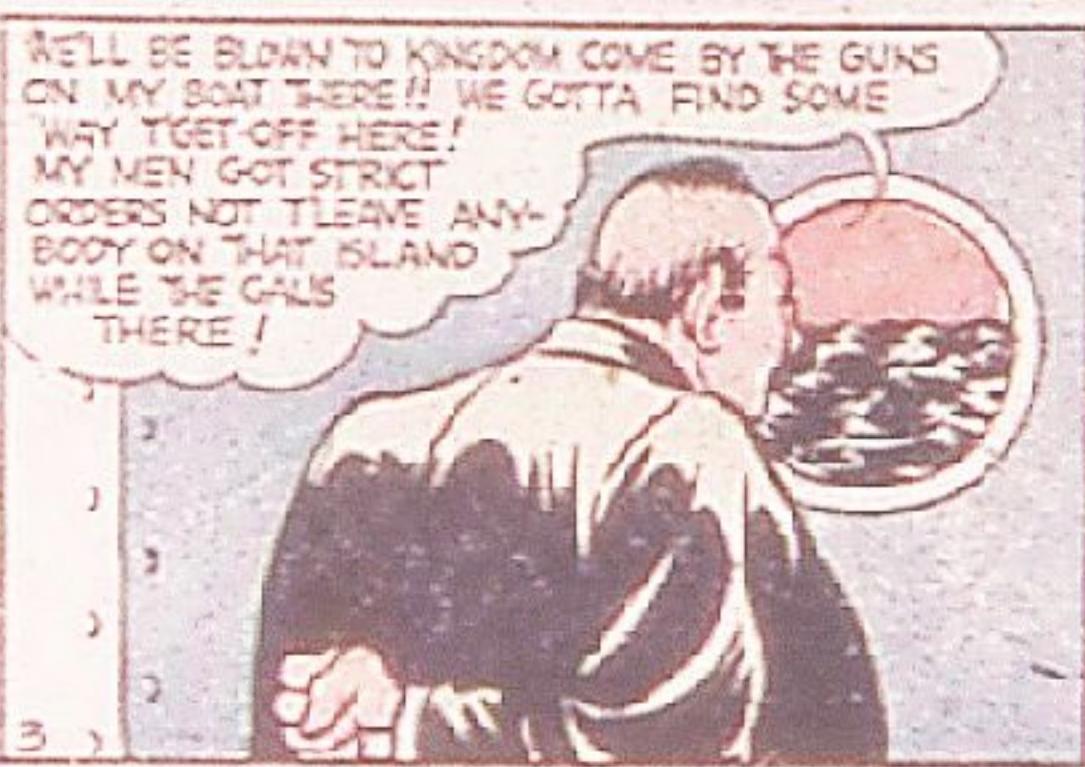

THE CAPTAIN IMMEDIATELY POINTS THE PATROL
BOAT'S NOSE IN THE DIRECTION OF GARNET ISLAND

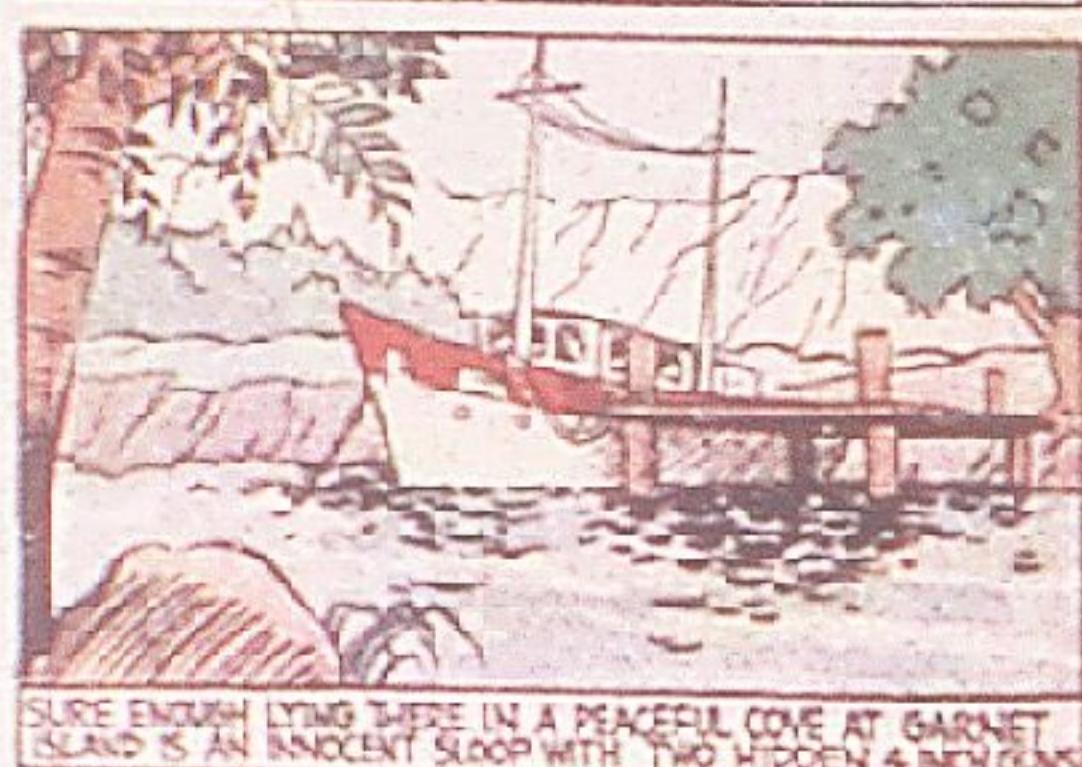

HEY TIM--DID JA HEAR?
WE'RE HEADED FER

THEY'RE STILL TALKING

About How Tiny Eckersall Wrecked the Great Heston's
Touchdown
Sprint

Only 145-pound Walter Eckersall stands between the mighty Willie Heston of Michigan and the goal that afternoon in 1904.

But, with remarkable agility, Eckersall recovers his balance, wheels on one foot and takes out after the flying Michigan star, himself an all-time all-American.

Knowing he can neither dodge, stiff-arm nor bowl over Chicago's tiny all-time all-American quarterback, Heston hurdles the charging mite—the crowd thundered its applause.

Heston was one of the fastest men who ever played—but Eckersall could outrun any man he ever met on a football field! Hardly had Heston regained his stride when Eckersall nails him from behind! Game ends—Michigan, 22; Chicago, 12.

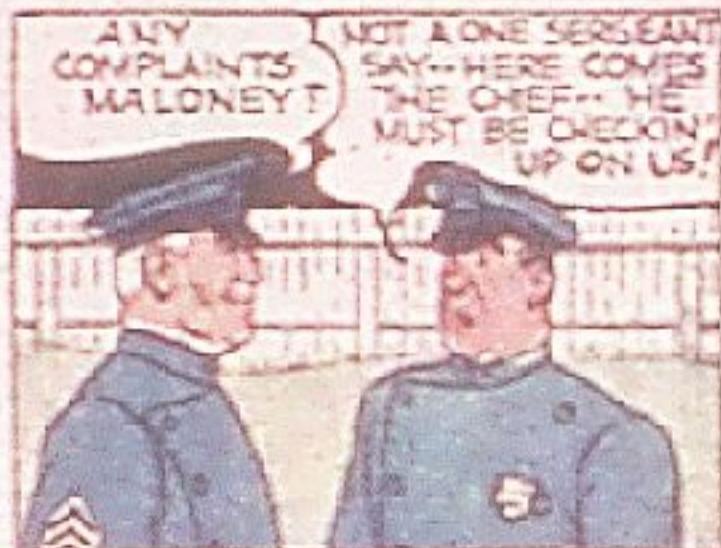

Here's Walter Eckersall—Chicago's brainy midget—all-American in 1904, 1905 and 1906. He died several years ago.
